

The Color Wheel of Life

(Inspired by Dick Nelson's Color Relationship Wisdom)

by Suchi Waters Benjamin - July 28, 2015

Mother Ocean is cyan washing over sand
Blending an array of ocean blues and tans
Luminosity prevails as the golden sun blazes through the sky
A full spectrum of light right before our eyes.... right before our eyes

Then slowly and tonally the light begins to fade
And luminosity finds comfort in the shade
A rich magenta sunset rolls across the sky
Tinted by the afterglow of day turning into night.... day turning into night

And when the moon shines in the dark of night
We know the circle never ends - this Color Wheel of Life
The rainbow bridge reminds us, as above so as below,
Color relationships shape our lives by who we love and what we know.... by what we love and who we know

From light to shade from tones to grays
Only the Creator knows how colors find their way

Opposites attract...complementaries turn to grays
Parents birth children in arrays of shades
Separated and reunited 1 + 1 become 3
Our relationships in life are colored by degrees
Yes, colored by degrees.....
But not the kind you earn in school
But the kind you learn from life
By blending your True Essence to reflect your Grace Inside

From light to shade from tones to grays
Only the Creator knows how colors find their way

Our true values, the power of our hues, the full chroma of our potency
Streaming through enlightened truths
Our palette of possibilities infinite and wise
There is no turning back once you've opened up your eyes
The Color Wheel of Life will always be your guide

Blending your True Essence to reflect your Grace Inside
The Color Wheel of Life will be your Guiding Light
